onemarkets BlackRock Global Equity Dynamic Opportunities Fund - MH-CZK

LUXEMBOURG UCITS-SICAV

December 2024

FOR PRIVATE INVESTORS

ISIN: LU2606422355

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVE

The Sub-Fund's investment objective is to maximise total return. The Sub-Fund invests globally, with no prescribed country or regional limits, at least 70% of its net assets in equity securities. The Sub-Fund will generally seek to invest in securities that are undervalued. The Sub-Fund may also invest in the equity securities of small and emerging growth companies. Currency exposure is managed flexibly.

INVESTMENT STRATEGY

The Sub-Fund adopts a flexible asset allocation policy and will invest in a diversified portfolio of assets. The asset allocation policy is consistent with the principles of environmental, social and governance ("ESG") focused investing. Although primarily an equity-oriented portfolio, individual investments may include bonds, distressed securities and contingent convertible bonds, as well as currencies and cash. The Sub-Fund will invest in securities issued by corporations, governments and government related issuers, other non-government issuers, located in both developed and emerging markets, and denominated in global currencies. Such issuers will be systematically screened and considered suitable according to the Investment Manager's assessment and ESG criteria analysis and policy, as detailed below. The Sub-Fund's benchmark is the MSCI World ACWI Index (the "Index"). The Index has been selected as the benchmark because it is representative of the investment universe of the Sub-Fund and it is therefore an appropriate performance comparator. The majority of the Sub-Fund's equity securities may not necessarily be components of or have weightings derived from the Index. The Investment Manager has a wide range of discretion relative to the Index. While the Sub-Fund will hold assets that are components of the Index, it may also invest in companies, countries or sectors that are not included in, and that have different weightings from, the Index in order to take advantage of investment opportunities. It is expected that over long time periods, the Sub-Fund's performance will differ materially from the Index. For further details, please refer to the fund documents.

Before making any investment decision, investors should read the Prospectus, and in particular the section on investment risks, as well as the Key Information Document (KID).

Holdings and allocations are subject to change. This document does not constitute investment advice or a recommendation to invest in the securities presented.

PERFORMANCE AND RISK MEASURES

Performance¹ as at 30. December 2024

Source: Structured Invest S.A. Past performance including all fees of share class MH-CZK at sub-fund level is calculated according to the BVI method (www.bvi.de), excluding any entry and exit fees, and the reinvested dividend for the accumulation class. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance. Future performance is subject to taxation, which depends on the personal situation of each investor and may change in the future.

RISK PROFILE

The historical data used to calculate the summary risk indicator may not be a reliable indicator of the future risk profile of the sub-fund. There is no guarantee that the risk category illustrated above will remain unchanged. A classification of the sub-fund in the lower category does not automatically mean that the investment is risk-free.

Risk classification of the sub-fund

The sub-fund's strategy is to invest in different assets and derivative instruments. Due to the relatively high volatility of these investments, the fund is classified in risk category 4.

Other relevant risks

The credit rating of the issuers of the securities held by the sub-fund and its strategy may deteriorate over time. In the unlikely event that the issuer of a security is forced to declare itself insolvent, the value of the securities could fall significantly. This could lead to a reduction in the market price of the sub-fund that exceeds the general market fluctuations.

The sub-fund's performance and the ability to buy, sell or redeem fund units may be hampered by economic developments and uncertainty caused by political events, changes in government policy, restrictions on capital flows and changes to the regulatory framework. Events such as natural disasters and political unrest can also have negative repercussions.

Under unfavourable market conditions, it may be difficult for the sub-fund to sell the securities held without incurring significant losses, or it may even be impossible to sell certain securities.

In this extreme case, it is possible that the sub-fund will experience payment difficulties, which could prevent investors from redeeming all their units immediately and without incurring significant losses. The sub-fund may perform derivative transactions and is therefore exposed to the risk of a counterparty failing to honour its contractual obligations. We reduce counterparty risk on derivative transactions by requiring our contractual counterparty to provide minimum collateral, as stipulated by the relevant regulatory requirements.

The sub-fund may incur losses due to malfunctions or inadequate internal procedures and systems, operational risks or external events. This includes the possibility of incurring losses due to a breach of applicable regulatory requirements, including losses caused by changes to the regulatory framework on existing transactions.

Derivatives are subject to specific risks arising from the "leverage effect", which amplifies the change in the market price of a derivative compared with the actual change in the market price of its underlying. The risk of loss increases as the amount of leverage of the derivative increases.

Risks not sufficiently taken into account in the indicator include the following: equity risk, bond risk, commodity risk, risk arising from multi-asset investments, sustainability risk, risks related to investment funds, risk of debt securities, convertible bonds, contingent convertible (CoCo) bonds, hybrid bonds and bonds with a rating below investment grade or no rating, early repayment and extension risk, derivatives and counterparty risk, short position risk, high leverage risk, currency risk, geopolitical risk and emerging markets risk.

For more in-depth information on the sub-fund's risk profile, please refer to the risk section of the fund's prospectus.
